

Visiting the Southeast Library (for Children)

When I visit the children's department at the Southeast library, I will try to talk quietly. Sometimes, the library gets very busy. When that happens, it can get very loud. Sometimes, a baby might cry.

I will try to walk when I am in the library. When the library is busy, sometimes there are a lot of children playing in different areas. There is a table for playing with trains, a table for playing with LEGO bricks, a bin that has stuffed animals, and computers. I will try to share the LEGO bricks with the other kids who want to play with them. I will try to wait my turn if someone is using something that I want to play with.

If I need help finding something, I can ask the librarian at the desk. The librarian can help me find books, DVDs, and audiobooks. The librarian can also help me check out books and put books on hold if they are not available when I am there. If I want to play on the internet, the librarian can also make me a reservation for a computer, but I might have to wait for one to be available. I will try to be patient if I have to wait for a computer.
